THE EVE OF BATTLE.

The Great Political Fight To-morrow.

THE HOSTS ARE NOW BEING MARSHALED.

The War of Ballots to Commence To-morrow Afternoon at 1 o'clock.

To-morrow's Battle

There is nothing talked of at the present time but politics, and what this one's chances are and what that one's is. The Presidential fight is completely lost sight of in the desire of different candidates to obtain nominations for county and legislative offices.

Every candidate has his friends, and he feels that he will be the favored one. The loaves and fishes that are to be divided are but few, while the candidates are numerous, consequently a large number of aspiring citizens will be turned down, and great will be their wrath and the loss of confidence in man's promises.

The great fight to-morrow seems to revolve around the Senatorial fight, and the others are looked upon as mere side issues.

In Berkeley there are two tickets in the field, one of which is known as the McKinley ticket, and the other as the Hill ticket. The delegates on both of these tickets are estimable gentlemen, but as both tickets cannot win it behooves the Republican voters of Berkeley to vote for the strongest ticket in order that a winning ticket may be nominated at Alameda, on Monday next. The McKinley ticket which is better known as the Stratton ticket is composed of men who have the best interests of Berkeley at heart and consequently it is solid for Mr. Stratton.

Home pride induced this ticket to also declare in favor of William Lair Hill for Superior Judge, and it is the intention of the delegation to stand with Mr. Hill as long as he has a possible chance to receive the nomination.

Mr. Hill, however, has seen fit to place another ticket in the field which he declares is for him and him alone, and that it is absolutely unpledged for any other candidate.

As the nomination of a gentleman for State Senator, who is friendly to Berkeley and the State University is of the greatest importance to our people, it is to their advantage to vote the Stratton ticket. While the GAZETTE would like to see Mr. Hill receive the nomination for Superior Judge, we think that more benefit will accrue to Berkeley by the assured pledge of delegates for Mr. Stratton. This pledge Mr. Hill says that his delegates will not take, consequently his ticket is just the one that the people of Berkeley do not want.

It is known that a number of the delegates on the Hill ticket are in favor of Dr. Derrick, and that they would not vote for Stratton under any consideration.

The people of Berkeley will serve their own interests best if they vote for the following ticket:

Harry J. Squires, John Finn, Frank Wilson, Joseph McClain, J. Olliver, Howard Wright, T. Graber, H. Waterbury, Robert Easton, John Stewart, Whitney Palache, Anson Blake, Harry Waste, Wellington Gregg, D. Adams, J. Bennett, Joseph Stapleton, H. D. Irwin, J. Teague, Thomas Dowd, C. R. Brown and George Phillips.

The Hilborn and Frick fight is over and this present fight is not on the same lines and bears no resemblance to the Hilborn-Frick fight unless it is that George C. Perkins should be returned to Congress with Mr. Hilborn, consequently the people of Berkeley want to elect a ticket that is pledged to Mr. Stratton and the ticket given above is that ticket.

Henry W. Taylor, who is seeking the nomination for Assemblyman from the 49th district has got the endorsement of the Republicans of his own district and he will have the pull of nine delegates from the Berkeley portion of the district. As matters now stand he has an excellent chance of receiving the nomination on the first ballot. He is known to be a friend of Berkeley and of the State University and this itself will be of great benefit to him when he goes before the convention.

E. P. BANCROFT.

Exposes Some of Wandering Willie's Campaign Statements.

Is It Insanity Or Idiocy?

"Our opponents talk about a 50 cent dollar. They refuse to recognize the fact that the moment the mints of the United States are opened to the free coinage of silver so that 70,000,000 of people can go out and secure silver, take it to the mint and convert it into money and use that money to pay taxes and debts with, and for the purchase of property—they refuse to recognize, I say, that the opening of our mints increases the demand for silver and raises the price of silver as measured by gold."

The above is an extract from a speech made by W. J. Bryan, the winner of of three alleged political parties in Kansas City, Mo., last Saturday morning Sept 12th, and reported in the Sunday morning papers.

It will not do to call this a campaign lie. Bryan carries his own stenographer, and no public utterance of his goes to the press, except by authority.

What fools we seventy millions are that we do not at once "go out and secure silver." Why wait for Bryan to be elected, and the mints to open? Silver bullion will always sell at some price, and as all we have to do is simply "go out and secure it," why do we wait?

The thousands and tens of thousands of unemployed and starving people, made so by the votes of Bryan and his kind, deserve to starve if they will not "go out and secure silver" when it can be done so easily.

To be sure Wandering Willie does not tell you just where to secure it, but from the flippancy with which he states the fact that 70,000,000 of people can go out and secure silver, it is fair to presume that you can find plenty of it lying around loose anywhere.

Alas! I fear I may have raised false hopes in the breast of some poor starving creature.

On the first reading I supposed one could go out and secure silver at any time, but could not take it to the mint and convert it into money until the mints of the United States are opened to the free coinage of silver. But, upon a more careful reading, I find that this great land of ours is not to be sown broadcast with lumps of silver bullion until the moment the mints of the U. S. are opened to the free coinage of silver.

Then, and not until then, we cannot only "go out and secure silver," but we can "take it to the mint and convert it into money," and strange as it may appear, can "use that money to pay taxes and debts with." The momentous question has been asked by hundreds of thousands of needy ones during this campaign, "how am I to procure some of those dollars, howsoever freely coined?"

Like other knotty problems, the solution is very easy when you know how. Just "go out and secure silver, take it to the mint and convert it into money." Can anything be more simple?

What unmitigated rot is this! It is humiliating to know that one out of seventy millions has been found who will stand before a crowd of people, even though Missourians, and declare himself of such idiotic drivel. And yet there are full grown men, capable of managing their business affairs, who will go to the polls and vote to place such a man in the office once filled by Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and Grant.

Originally a demagogue of medium ability, Bryan is rapidly developing into the mountebank. It were charity to believe that his sudden elevation has turned his brain, and that his silly utterances are the result of incipient insanity, rather than drivelling idiocy.

The Salvation Army.

The many friends of the Salvation army in Berkeley will be glad of the opportunity next Sunday eve. Sept. 20th at the First Presbyterian, church corner Allston way and Milvia street of hearing Major and Mrs. McIntyre, Ensign Taylor, Secretary of the Junior work on this coast. Captain Spurgeon of the Charioteer band, and Sister Edith Crafts late of Mills College. All are cordially invited.

Hearafter students of the State University will have the majority of hours for the year come above the second section. If not a re-examination will have to be taken to get up to the standard.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Given Yesterday Afternoon at the Home

OF STUART MCMILLAN ON DWIGHT WAY.

In Honor of His Having Passed Another Milestone of His Life.

A Birthday Party.

There was music in the air the other afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan on Dwight way. The occasion being the sixth birthday of master Guy, their son. Early in the afternoon guests began to arrive at the residence, the parlor was tastefully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and the dining room was transformed into a bower of beauty with green vines, and clusters of pink blossoms which formed graceful arches with chinese lanterns throwing the soft light over the room. After games of various kinds had been played the little folks marched into the dining room singing, and all took their seats at the table which was handsomely decorated with La France roses and maiden hair ferns, and fairly groaned with its load of goodies which had been prepared to satisfy the demands of the little ones. At 5 five o'clock the little ones tripped gaily home all voicing a good time.

Guy was given many handsome and useful presents too numerous to mention. The guests of afternoon and evening were Bert and Ray Hutton, Marguite Slater, Minnie and Herbert Brookes, E. Stearns of San Francisco, Sidney Hall, Fred Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Whiting and daughter Blanche, the Mesdames Hutton, J. N. Abbott, and W. Smith, and Mrs. Becker of San Francisco, the Misses Cora Ficke, and Georgia Kraus, also the Messrs. Brand, Albin, Wagner and others whose names the writer failed to catch.

W. H. H. Gentry.

Now that the Supreme Court has given a decision in relation to the term of office of Justices of the Peace, W. H. H. Gentry, Esq., has arrived at the conclusion, from the advice of lawyers, both Democratic and Republican, to submit his name to the Democratic Convention, to be held tomorrow, as a candidate for the position.

Should Mr. Gentry be elected to fill the position the public will be the gainer for many reasons. Perhaps one of the strongest will be that he is an educated lawyer, having graduated from the University of California in 1892, and then being a graduate of Harvard Law College, where he was for three years. During two years of this time he held a scholarship in that educational school.

It has been very difficult to get a man of Mr. Gentry's qualifications to accept a position of this kind. He has long been a resident of Berkeley, is a man of family and a citizen who commands the respect of his neighbors. In addition, he is a man who has worked his way through college by his own efforts, and a man of that kind seldom fails in anything he undertakes.

Mr. Gentry will naturally have a large friendly support should he be placed on the ticket.

This is a position where politics should not be known in. Honesty and capability should be the qualification required, and when a man has these he is sure to fill the office acceptably to his fellow citizens.

Amusements.

With several new faces in the cast and the reappearance of William L. Roberts and Miss Olive Martin who won favor with our people in "Faust" a new and highly sensational comedy drama "The Iron King," was presented by Manager Bacon's Company at the Oakland theater last night. "The Iron King" is itself new to the Coast, but throughout the East has won encomiums from press and public. It is a play intensely real and full of action and catchy dialogue from start to finish. The scenery was exceptionally good as its mechanism, especially the interior of the rolling mills with its powerful machinery in practical operation reflect great credit upon Messrs. Walter Werner, machinest of the house and Charles Schields, the artist and Robert Smith, property master. The situations are thrilling beyond measure, particularly the terrible leap for life of the foreman of the shop when brought face to face with death at the explosion of the cupola and his subsequent rescue on the five-ton crane and left suspended in mid-air 25 feet above the flames.

Of the company the star parts were well taken by William L. Roberts and Miss Olive Martin.

The re-appearance of Frank Bacon, after an absence from the stage of some five weeks found warm welcome on all sides. The balance of the company sustained their parts acceptably.

"The Iron King" will continue through out the week.

To-night a benefit will be tendered to Court United States Order of Forresters, next week the great marine play the Commodore will be the attractions.

WILLIAM L. HILL

States Which Ticket He and His Friends will Support.

How W. L. Hill Stands.

Two tickets for the primary convention are in the field, both of which the named delegates are supposed to be in favor of Wm. L. Hill as a candidate for Superior Judge. Desiring to know which ticket Mr. Hill had a preference for, if any, a representative of the GAZETTE interviewed that gentleman this morning and he said in reply to questions asked:

"The matter is a delicate one for me to decide. The McKinley name was put on the ticket, I am told, through the efforts of certain gentlemen who opposed Mr. Hilborn's nomination to Congress, while I came very near supporting him. The Hill ticket was put up by the Republican Club. I am pledged by the men with whom I recently served in that memorable contest, and with whom I have been much more intimately associated in recent years than with the others. While I am informed and believe the delegates on both tickets are friendly to my nomination, yet when a choice must be made my preference is naturally for the 'Republican Club ticket.'"

Golden Gate McKinley Club.

Last evening there was a meeting of the masses, held in Klinkner Hall, under the auspices of the Golden Gate McKinley Club, which by the way is the first McKinley Club organized on this coast, being formed before this honorable gentleman received this nomination.

Hon. Louis H. Titus was the speaker of the evening, doing ample justice to the subject taken. He was frequently applauded and put a great deal of enthusiasm into the audience. The Republicans of Golden Gate, have awakened up to the situation and will be right in the fight from now until election day closes.

Songs were given by native Hawaiians in the tongue of their native land as well as in English.

The evening would have been incomplete as far as the meeting was concerned if Wm. J. Schmidt, Berkeley's candidate for Supervisor in Fifth District had not told the people of Golden Gate, in a very neat and concise speech, what his opinions were in relation to the coming contest. Mr. Schmidt's friends, although he has any number of them in town, wherever he roams. The impressions he made last evening were very favorable to his candidacy if we can judge by the remarks made by many.

Two of the [illegible] sung political songs, much to the gratification of those present.

For State Senator.

Dr. George Derrick of Oakland is a candidate for State Senator in the Twenty-seventh Senatorial district. He is a gentleman of broad and liberal views, highly educated and cultured, and is in every way qualified to represent Alameda county and especially the Twenty-seventh district in the coming State Legislature. He has numerous friends all over the county and especially in this district, who are making an honorable fight for his nomination. He has pledged himself that if nominated and elected he will do all in his power to secure a large appropriation for the benefit of the State University.

Upon other matters that are of great interest to this county he has made his position plainly understood, and he is known to be a man of honor, whose word is his bond. Should Mr. Derrick receive the nomination and the election, Alameda county will have in him a first-class representative.

GRAND MASS MEETING

To be Held at the Oakland Tabernacle

GALAXY OF EXCELLENT SPEAKERS WILL BE PRESENT.

Special Trains Will be Run and a Jolly Time Will be Had

Grand Mass Meeting.

EDITOR "GAZETTE:" Pursuant to custom it has been decided to hold a grand mass meeting of Alameda County citizens under the direction and auspices of the Republican State Central Committee delegation from this County.

Believing that the press throughout the County will lend their willing aid toward giving the occasion the greatest publicity as one which especially invites the interest and attendance of every thoughtful voter, the undersigned have been appointed a press committee to assist in the dissemination of any information that may be of interest or pertinent.

The meeting has been called for Saturday evening September 26th 1896 at 8 o'clock p. m. at Mills Tabernacle. It is expected to have as speakers of the evening Hon. George A. Knight, Samuel M. [illegible]ridge and W. R. Davis. There will also be remarks from the following: Hon. Frank Coombs, Presidential elector, D. E. McKinley, Hon. A. L. Hart, State Senator, Tirey L. Ford, ex-Mayor M. C. Chapman, W. S. Barnes, Assistant District Attorney of San Francisco, E. D. Peixotto and Carroll Cook.

Mrs. S. H. Martin will render a patriotic song as a solo and there will be a double male quartette from the Young Men's Republican League to fill in the interlissions between addresses.

A Special train will run from Livermore to Oakland to arrive at 1st and Broadway at 7:30 p. m. for the especial convenience of Republican clubs and individuals desirous of attending the meeting. They will be met at the depot by the Republican Alliance and the Young Men's Republican League both in full uniform, and escorted to the Tabernacle. The Tabernacle will be kept closed until shortly before the arrival of the train.

It is the aid of the State Central committee-men to make this meeting [illegible]ich will be not only a convention [illegible]publicans but of every one who expects to cast a vote on November 3rd. Of everyone who is interested in knowing what Republican lay before themselves and before the people as the issues of this campaign and why they make their plea to the souud reason and particularly to the patriotism of every American.

Consequently the undersigned confidently request your active support in giving the affair the widest publicity and active endorsement without which it must fall far short of its highest success.

Yours most respectfully, W. W. Knickerbocker, C. M. Fisher, J. W. Stetson, Committee on Press.

Wants Information.

Constitution and By-laws of the West Berkeley Republican Club.

Article 1. Section 3.—This club shall not be used to further the interest of any candidate for office previous to his nomination.

EDITOR GAZETTE: With your kind permission I would like to state a few facts, in regard to the endorsement of H. W. Taylor and W. J. Schmidt, for the office of Assemblyman and Supervisor by the West Berkeley Republican Club. It seems very strange that C. H. Spear should sign his name to that endorsement, he having served on the committee on by-laws for said club and knew that such a section as printed above existed. With regard to Mr. Engelbretsen, there may be some excuse. I think it would be pretty hard work to find his name on the club roll, unless it was placed there last meeting night, for that would be the first time he has ever been present at any meeting of the club since it was organized.

THE PERALTA BOYS.

Peralta Fire Company's Social.

Last evening the Engine House of the Peralta Fire Company was well filled by its friends, the occasion being an informal social given by the company. The decorations for the party gave the room a cheerful appearance. The guests were entertained by vocal music and dancing. Messrs. Al. J. Bracken and Fred Smith sang, "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me," and gave as an encore, "The Miller's Daughter."

Dancing followed for a time and then all were invited to partake of a fine supper which had been provided by the company. This was a hit followed by dancing until time for the company to go home.

Samuel P. Hall

Almost everyone in Alameda county is acquainted with the above named gentleman. He has served this county faithfully and well as its District Attorney and retired from office with the plaudits of the people. He is now seeking the Republican nomination for Superior Judge of this Empire county and a man better fitted for the position or could wear the judicial ermine with more honor and dignity, has not yet been named in connection with the office.

Mr. Hall is a man who has made a study of all classes of law, and is thoroughly competent to administer it. The high esteem in which he is held in this county by all classes will make his election a certainty if he is given the nomination and if the delegates to the convention deliberate calmly upon this matter and use their best judgment they will surely nominate Samuel P. Hall as one of the candidates for Superior Judge.

The City Justices.

The decision of the Supreme Court rendered yesterday in regard to San Francisco affects Oakland as well though Oakland does not posses a city and county Government. Under the decision all municipal officers are given two year terms, only, while county officers are given four-year term. Oakland has two municipal officers that are elected at a general election and nominated at a county convention, the two city Justices of the Peace. It has been decided that the county conventions will have to make nominations for those places.

Fred V. Wood and J. J. Allen are at present holding these places. J. J. Allen is a candidate for Superior Judge. Fred V. Wood stepped out yesterday to mend his fence. Hugh S. Aldrich is a candidate for one of the nominations. The First ward manipulators J. A. Sands, J. W. Stetson and Frank B. Josephs, are also candidates.

District Attorney Snook has decided that the nominations must be made. All of the county conventions will nominate for these offices.

WAYS THAT ARE DARK.

One of Ah Sin's Relatives Works a Golden Gate Lady.

An Idustrious Chinaman.

Mrs. M. Village of Twelfth street, Golden Gate, employed a Chinaman to do some gardening for her and when that job was completed she concluded to have him take up her carpet, a new one, and clean it. Having occasion to go away, she left him in the house alone. He improved the time by sending one express wagon on which he loaded the carpet and in addition to make a load, added a stove with three joints of pipe and two elbows. Officer Desmond being detailed to look up the case, found that he had made a clean thing of the whole business by disposing of the carpet to a man at Temescal for $7.50. The stove he put where he thought it would do the most good, namely in his own cabin, where the Officer found it. Mrs. Village will swear out a complaint to day for the Chinaimen's arrest.

W. J. Schmidt, the Good Road's candidate for Supervisor, is smashing fences right and left. His speech at Golden Gate last evening made for him many friends, and he is now concentrating his energies on the first ward of Oakland and smashing slates generally there.

THE REV. GEO. SWAN

Rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church

DELIVERED HIS FIRST ANNIVERSARY SERMON.

On Sunday Evening Last to a Large and Interesting Congregation.

Rev. Swan's Address.

In honoring him you have honored yourselves. Our Sunday School [illegible] at all what it ought to be. [illegible] least is shown in it by the major[illegible] of the congregation. Most parents think they have fulfilled their duty to it when they have sent their children. I have tried hard to get together a good staff of teachers and have to a [illegible] not succeeded, but for our adult classes we should have several cultured and ripened church men and women. I need hardly in this country speak of the importance of education and good schools. These boys and girls are to take our place when we are gone. The future of the parish and the church no less than of the State will be in their hands. We ought to see to it that these children are fully and sufficiently instructed in our holy religion, and ourselves do all we can in this [illegible] and necessary work.

The crowded conditions of our church has caused much anxious thought. We feel desirous that all shall come to our worship, who will. We realize our obligation to provide rooms in God's House for all who come to worship Him. We know that our present building is not intended for a permanent church. We long for a more worthy edifice, one that, by its fitness, shall speak to all men of a God and Saviour, loved and revered, and acknowledged as the source and foundation of all our doings, one that by its beauty shall help men and a keener appreciation of the beauty of holiness and by its inspiring worship lift up all hearts and minds to the invisible and uncreated glory—we look for word to the time when this work can be begun. But it does not seem very near. Our small indebtedness must first be wiped out and the financial conditions of the country be very much improved before the vestry can take any action.

But as soon as it is at all possible plans should be adopted, a building fund created and every one go to work to get together sufficient money for the building. It is not the mind of the rector, vestry or congregation that a heavy indebtedness should be incurred. Neither is there any likelihood of a large gift. We should realize that we must rely on ourselves, the little persistent work and the small gifts of the many.

Meanwhile, let us unite to make the best of our present privileges. If we cannot send out our branches widely, the roots may at least be expected to go down deeper and take a firmer hold. Our public worship is by no means what it should be. There is too little reverence, the responses are not full enough or hearty enough, the singing is not entered into by the congregation as it ought to be; there is too little warmth in our worship. We are too cold too formal.

Our congregation is not friendly enough. There is too little going to gether, we too much stand to ne another. It is largely by necessity, those who have long been members of this parish are in the minority. Those who have been here but a short time are really just as much at home as the majority if they would but realize it. They should not wait to be invited but step right in and be friendly to others. As I have said many times, this parish belongs not to the rector or vestry or any favored few but to all who contribute to its support and attend its services. Make yourselves at home, then help others to make themselves to home.

This is the house of God and all men are equal all are brothers and sisters everyone members of one and another. There ought to be more opportunities for us to get better acquainted with each other but the Rector cannot plan and carry out all that ought to be done, so much ought not to be left to him. Certainly the social side of our parish life, which is an important one ought to be looked after by you. One of the tendences is to think and speak of an impersonal "They". We commonly say, "They ought to do this or that". Now "They" really have no existence. There is no such company of people in this parish. The word used in place of they should be "We" please say "We ought to do so," Berkeley is a quiet town but its people are a busy one.

There is a general spirit abroad of self-centering, of complete absorption in the business of life. The social side of life is too much neglected and indeed, I am sometimes afraid home life also. Much of this absorption is selfish indulgence in that which is most interesting to us. The enthusiasms of our lives may in themselves be high and noble, but if they are carried to such an excess as to prevent us from doing our full duty in our relations to our family and our church and in legitimate and necessary social relations then surely they become ignoble—we do ourselves wrong in the undue pursuit. Certainly God claims a portion of our time and energy, as well as of our means. We cannot be true Christians, loving the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity and truth without holding out the lamp of divine truth to others—as Phillips Brooks said, "It is good for us to think that no grace or blessing is truly ours till we are aware that God has some one else with it through us." Loyalty to Jesus Christ is certainly the test of all true discipleship.

If our love is real we are trying hard to serve Christ because we love Him with intense earnestness, and in this service we are becoming more and more like Him. The whole of life as it affects our higher, nobler and best selves, as it reaches eternity, is simply this, either we have surrendered to the happiness of experience and the gospel is unreal and far away as we have succumbed to the one temptation of the world which is self indulgence. We have accepted Christ as our only Guide and our only master and obey the one great precept of His giving, viz., self surrender. There is no possible compromise. Either we are following Christ with loyal love or we are following our own will and our own inclinations.

One year ago I preached my first sermon from this pulpit and took for my text, "Speak with the children of Israel that they go forward." As I look back I realize that the exhalations had been needed.

There have been in St. Mark's Parish, and for it I thank God, for He it is who has given you both the willingness and the ability, the right mind and heart and the power to perform. With many heart searchings I realize some of the defects of my own work and the fact that God knows many more. My earnest desire is that we may grow together into an early realization of the fact that in this holy work we are co-workers with God. In this blessed work, this holy partnership there is no such thing as standing still. It is our word ever onward."

The toe behind, the deep before and only just a little distance, safety, the land of Promise, Heaven, God the Saviour, waiting spirits, the joy of evermore. Peace eternal, Peace, Rest.

The free silver craze is rapidly dying out and now we hear but little of it except from Wandering Willie Bryan, who is junketing about the country in special trains. Senator Teller, Senator Stewart, Senator Jones, Mr. Bland, Governor Boies and the other distinguished gentlemen who were members of and spectators at the Chicago Convention, are as silent as clams upon the question. They are not heard of in fact. The newspapers have no columns filled with speeches that they are making before audiences composed of thousands of laborers, mechanics and farmers. Why is this? Do they distrust Wandering Willie, or do they see the handwriting on the wall so plainly that they want to get away from the McKinley cyclone that will sweep over the country on the 3d of November next?

Professor Charles M. Gayley, head of the English language and literature department of the University has consented to give a course of lectures during the month of October, in St. Mark's church, on the "Christianity of St. Paul." The first lecture will be given on Sunday, October 4th at 6:45 o'clock in evening. Professor Bailey who is now delivering a course of lectures in the same place will give the last one on Sunday September 27th.

Mrs. A. Kyle who has been visiting here left for Sacramento this morning.

THE PRIMARIES.

Tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, the polls for the Republican primaries will be opened and it is expected that voting will be very lively until 7 o'clock, the hour at which the polls will be closed.

The ticket known as the Stratton ticket seems to have the lead at the present time. The Stratton forces are thoroughly organized and they are confident that their ticket will win by a large majority.

A thorough canvass has been made by the Stratton people and they have got the fight well in hand, and will make a most determined effort to win.

What is known as the Hill ticket has a number of good citizens upon it, but it has undergone so many changes since it was first nominated that it has been weakened.

Another reason that it is weak is because the majority of the voters believe that many of the delegates are in favor of Dr. Derrick as against Fred Stratton.

The people of Berkeley are particularly interested in Mr. Stratton's candidacy because he formerly resided in Berkeley and because he is a graduate of the University, this they know without any controversy, that he will do all in his power to secure a large appropriation for the University in order that the necessary new buildings may be erected, and a number of new professors may be obtained. To be sure Dr. Derrick has pledged himself to do the same thing, but he will not have the interest in the matter that Mr. Stratton will. Again in all parts of the State graduates of the State University are candidates for the Legislature and many of them will undoubtedly be elected, consequently Mr. Stratton would be among friends which would enable him to work all the harder and accomplish much more.

As both tickets are pledged to William Lair Hill for Superior Judge, he will loose nothing by the election of the Stratton ticket but will undoubtedly gain more in other parts of the county by having his name presented by the Stratton delegates.

The Stratton delegates will be evenly divided for the second nomination of Superior Judge, between Messrs. Hall and Green and in the matter of Supervisors for the fourth and fifth districts, home candidates will receive the first ballot and all others, if they develope strength. If not, the strength of Berkeley will go to Messrs. Mitchell and Johnston.

Taken all in all the Stratton ticket as it is known is the safest ticket for the Republicans of Berkeley to vote for, and it will undoubtedly be elected.

The Democratic County Convention will be held at Germania Hall in Oakland, tomorrow evening, and the fight for nominations will be quite lively from all we can hear, as it is expected that certain Democratic candidates will be endorsed by the Populists and certain Populist candidates will be endorsed by the Democrats. There will be but one Democratic nominee for the Superior Judgship, and that will be contended for by Judge Brewton A. Hayne of Berkeley, and Thomas Garrity of Oakland. It is generally conceded, however, that Hayne will win the nomination, as he is the most popular and strongest candidate that the Democrats can put up, and with the Populist nomination also, he will give his Republican competitor a very lively race. The Supervisor for the Fifth District is conceded to the Democrats to nominate and there will be a very lively fight between Robert McKillican and Dan Crowley for the nominations, and as they both have many friends it is hard to tell which of them will win in the convention.

We have heard of people whistling to keep up their courage, but now we have occular demonstration of the San Francisco Examiner, putting up impossible rows of figures eachday, showing the States that Bryan will carry and by what majorities. If this amuses the Examiner and keeps up its courage, it should be allowed to keep it up. To its readers, however, it only causes laughter and distrust. It might be well to cut out the list of figures published and save them until after the returns are in for the purpose of proving just how unreliable figures that are published in the Examiner are.

Judge J. J. Allen is now looming up as a strong factor in the Superior Judges' fight. It is said that he can count upon going into the convention with 68 votes, that he can positively control on any proposition and for trading purposes. If he has got this strength he will be a dangerous foe for the other candidates to contend with for he can very easily make a combination, with Judge Langan, of Livermore, if that gentleman has the strength that is accredited to him and make the nominations sure for Allen and Langon. These reports of strength of the different candidates are all rumors and of course cannot be credited until the convention meets, and a test of strength is made. In the meantime combinations are being made and unmade every hour, and this state of affairs will exist up to the hour of voting for candidates on Monday next.

W. S. Pelouze has finally come to the conclusion that he could not obtain the nomination for Supervisor in the Fifth district, and he has announced that he will not go before the Republican convention and make any fight for it. He is not out of the race, however, as he has announced himself as an independent candidate, and he will at once set to work and get up a petition so that his name may appear on the ticket. Phil Walsh expected to gain strength by this withdrawal, but he will have the hardest fight of his life to carry the delegates of the First ward of Oakland. The chances are now that Pelouze is out of the fight, that the delegates will be badly mixed up in the Supervisors' fight, and Mitchell will be the gainer.

We have not yet heard of any Republican candidate for Justice of Peace for Berkeley. There is no question but what Justices will have to be elected at the coming election and that nominations will be made for these offices at the coming convention, so it would be well for those aspiring to that office to fix up their fences. The Supreme Court has not yet decided that the Justices of Peace hold office for four years, and even if they did, it is not likely that their decision would affect Berkeley which is governed by a special charter that specifically provides that Justices of the Peace must be elected every two years. The Democrats will, in all probability at their county convention which is to be held to-morrow night, nominate candidates for Justice of the Peace as will be seen by the card announcement in another column whereby W. H. H. Gentry, a well-known attorney of Berkeley and a graduate of the University, announces himself as a candidate, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

England has decided to keep its hands off of Turkey and the Armenian affairs unless it is backed up by the other powers. Just what this means does not appear on the surface, but it will undoubtedly develop in the course of a few days.

As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, George B. Ruggles has commenced business in West Berkeley and is desirous of getting patronage from the public. He guarantees all of his work and his prices are low. By strict attention to business and fair treatment he will endeavor to merit public approbation. Give him a trial and have your work done at home.

THE FARMER AND WAGES.

The Cause of the American Laborer Is also the Cause of the Farmer.

The demagogic press and politician strives to make it appear to the American farmer that he is in nowise interested in the wage earner, except to have wages cheap so as to reduce the cost of production of farm crops, and the whole the protection plea, however elevation of wages comes out of the farmer in common with other consumers.

As a plain matter of fact, however, the farmer is a wage earner just as much as he who goes to the mill when the 7 o'clock whistle blows, only that the farmer goes the earlier of the two and stays later. The only difference is that, instead of working for a corporation and under a boss whom the corporation sets over him, the farmer is his own paymaster and the farm itself is his boss. The average value of American farms, according to the last census, was $2786, and about all that an investment of that size can do for any man is to employ himself at fair wages the whole year round, and so the farmer is a wage earner.

Again, the rate of wages paid to farm laborers fixes the rate of wages a farmer can pay himself after paying interest and taxes, for competition between the big ranch which is run by hired labor and the small farm which the owner cultivates himself brings the wages of all farm work to a common level. There is no way of escaping this, except through a combination of all employers of farm labor, and, in America, no such combination was ever yet effected, though attempted time and again.

But there is another and more powerful reason why the farmer, in common with every other citizen, is vitally interested in maintaining good wages and plenty of work for all wage earners, and it is that every hungry man is a brute. The instinct of savagery burns anew in his breast, and makes him a ravening beast. He is not to be blamed for this. It is his nature, and it was God who made him so. A million or two of hungry men in this country, led by demagogues, would wreck the country and overturn all its institutions. They would abolish rights of property and make every man the sole defender of his own.

Even if it were true, which it is not, that the consumer pays the tax imposed for the purpose of protection, and that the farmer, being the chief consumer, is therefore the chief taxpayer for the benefit of protection—even if all these things were true, which they are not, the farmer could well afford to pay the tax, and so keep those employed who otherwise would be driven from manhood to wolfishness by hunger and frost. It is the existence of fifteen millions of people in this country who have no other resource for daily bread except daily toil, which makes government a problem, and every farmer, in common with every professional man or capitalist, must, if they would preserve society, make the well-being of the wage earner his first concern.

And this is why the Republican party has ever championed the cause of labor, and in so championing the cause of labor it has championed the cause of all.

REPROVED.

Democrats Denounce Democrats for Want of Patriotism and Principle.

Three times in the history of the Democratic party of this country has the demagogic element, the element which is without principle and is in politics for what there is in politics—three times has this element run away with the management of the party and discredited it in the eyes of the world.

This was first done in 1860, and with what lamentable consequences the whole world knows, and then, as now, tens of thousands of loyal and earnest Democrats turned their backs upon their party and stood by the Union.

The next occasion of the kind was in 1872, when the Democracy cast aside its principles and nominated a Republican for the Presidency in the hope of office. At that time another convention was held and another ticket nominated, and that small, but honest, wing of the Democracy was the nucleus about which the party was able to reform four years later. But what a cutting reproof to the swag-hunting element of the party was the platform adopted by the O'Connor convention. Here is a section out of it. How applicable it is to the popocratic aggregation of to-day does not need to be told. It speaks for itself:

Resolved, That we proclaim to the world that principle is to be preferred to power; that the Democratic party is held together by the cohesion of time-honored principles which they will never surrender in exchange for all the offices which Presidents can confer. The pangs of minorities are doubtless excruciating, but we come an eternal minority under the banner inscribed with our principles rather than an almighty and everlasting majority purchased by their abandonment.

The third and last occasion when the goldbugs of the party have had to be rebuked by Democrats of principle is in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six. Those were earnest men who met at Indianapolis, and while Republicans cannot help believing them mistaken in their views of government, all men will admire their courage and patriotism.

The Chicago convention was a conglomeration of theorists, agitators and enthusiasts, but the Indianapolis convention was made up of earnest men deeply concerned for their country's honor. The high quality of the speeches delivered was remarkable, and was more like appeals to the senate in the days of its glory than the demagogic oratory of campaigners.

It is not possible that the nominees of the convention shall be elected. Many of the delegates are men who could have gained places of trust and honor in the event of the election of Bryan by their aid, but they have sacrificed ambition upon the altar of principle. The conclusions of such men may be faulty, but their convictions are honest and their courage is admirable.

Macaulay's Prophecy.

In a letter addressed to a biographer of Thomas Jefferson the great historian and student of affairs, Thomas Babbington Macaulay penned the following prophecy:

The day may come in the United States when a multitude of people, oppressed by hard times, will be called upon to choose rulers. On one side will stand a statesman preaching patience, respect for vested rights, and strict observance of public faith. On the other side will stand a demagogue ranting about the tyranny of usurers and capitalists. Let us hope that if such a season of adversity ever comes the American nation will not act like people who would in a year of scarcity devour all the seed corn and thus make the next year a year, not of scarcity, but of absolute famine.

That the time, foreshadowed by Macaulay, has come when a campaign is to be fought on lines practically as he laid them down scarcely admits of question. What will the issue be? This is a question which millions of men are asking themselves every day, and, while they feel [illegible] they cannot help feeling concerned because the gravest consequences to rich and poor depend upon the issue. It is not that Bryan is a demagogue who, with malicious intent, seeks to destroy his country or to overturn the social order. He is not deep enough for that, and there is no spirit of malice in him. He is not essentially bad [illegible] personally he is undoubtedly a good fellow, much liked by those who know him, but his appeals for his political advancement on telling people the things that are pleasant for them to hear rather than the truths which they need to be told. His kind of politics bears the same relation to genuine statesmanship that trashy literature bears to classical masterpieces. In most every speech he appeals, more or less openly to the most dangerous passions of human character, and it is that which has brought to mind with so much force the long forgotten prophecy of Macaulay, and which gives to thinking men so much concern in regard to this election.

His Voice Did It.

The concensus of opinion among people who trace results to their causes now is that William Jennings Bryan received the popocratic nomination for President at Chicago solely on the merit of his voice, which has remarkable compass and strength. The vast auditorium was filled with thousands of people who came there to hear, but could not. They made ear trumpets out of newspapers and strained forward to catch a sound, but were not able to. They could see men on the platform throw their arms in gesticulation and make their mouths go, but they could not catch a word. The hall was too vast, the hum of fifteen thousand impatient people was too loud, and those who had ears, and even ear trumpets, could not hear. And then Mr. Bryan took the stand. He had not spoken three sentences before the vast assemblage was ravished with delight, and for the simple reason that they could hear what was being said. His voice penetrated to the utmost nook and cranny of the building, and there was none so deaf that he could not hear. The newspaper trumpets came down and all sat enraptured by a voice. The ravished senses of the people ran away with their sense, and caused them to nominate for the first office within the gift of the people an unripe man and a man without depth of character or sincerity of purpose. It was not the cross of gold and crown of thorns, which Mr. Bryan plagerized from Congressman McCall, which gave him his nomination, though that was very pretty and took well, but the simple fact that he had as good a voice as any street peddler crying his wares.

Two Representative Silver Men.

Mr. Bryan—Yes, we recognize and admire the grandeur and glory of the Chinese empire, and in proof of our admiration we intend to discard the standard which we have enjoyed in common with Germany, France, Sweden, England and Austria and adopt the one under which your highness has grown to riches and power and 30,000,000 of Chinamen have enjoyed prosperity and happiness.

Prince Li (amused but courteous)—You amaze me! But I am indeed gratified and complimented to hear that China is to be accepted as a model by the great and powerful United States of America.—Chicago Times-Herald.

It is not alone in his advocacy of free silver that Mr. Bryan takes Li Hung Chang and the Chinese empire as his model of correct policy, but in free trade principles as well. If Mr. Bryan and his associates could have their way about it, they would throw down the barriers and permit China and Japan to flood our country with their cheap wares, for Bryan is an out and out free trader, and is on record as having declared protection to be "the most vicious political principle that ever cursed this country."

A study of the exhibits at the pavilion will convince any intelligent man that all California needs to establish her industrial prosperity is a protective system that will enable her to develop her natural resources and manufacture her raw material under conditions that will permit the payment of the present high rate of wages and yield a profit to the producer.—Call.

Now to say that protection does not increase wages is to say that busy factories do not increase wages; that lighted furnaces do not increase wages; that open mines do not increase wages; that manufacturing cities do not increase wages; that having the market close to the farm does not increase wages.—Senator Hoar.

Whether against slavery or repudiation, fiat money or free trade, the Republican party has stood firm and immovable for right and country, for freedom and free home, for the public credit, a sound currency, and for the maintenance of our industrial independence and the dignity and elevation of American labor.—William McKinley.

The End of Samuel Pepys.

This day died Mr. Sam. Pepys, a very worthy, industrious and curious person, none in England exceeding him in knowledge of the Navy, in which he had passed through all the more considerable offices, Clerk of the Acts and Secretary of the Admiralty, all which he performed with great integrity. When King James went out of England, he laid down his office and would serve no more, but withdrawing himself from all public affairs he liv'd at Clapham with his partner Mr. Hewer, formerly his clerk, in a very noble house and sweet place, where he enjoy'd the fruite of his labors in greate prosperity. He was universally belov'd, hospitable, generous, learned in many things, skill'd in music, a very greate cherisher of learned men, of whom he had the conversation.

His library and collection of other curiosities were of the most considerable, the models of ships especially. Besides what he publish'd of an Account of the Navy, as he found and left it, he had for divers yeares under his hand the History of the Navy, or Navalia, as he called it, but how far advanc'd, and what will follow of his, is left, I suppose, to his sister's son, Mr. Jackson, a young gentleman whom Mr. Pepys had educated in all sorts of useful learning, sending him to travel abroad, from whence he return'd with extraordinary accomplishments and worthy to be heir. Mr. Pepys had been for neere forty years so much my particular friend that Mr. Jackson sent me compleat mourning, desiring me to be one to hold up the pall at his magnificent obsequies, but my indisposition hinder'd me from doing him this last office.—"Evelyn's Diary."

As She Viewed Her Present.

An amusing incident occurred at a fashionable wedding in London. One friend, who determined to save her money and credit at the same time, took a broken earring to a famous jeweler of Bond street and ordered the little stone to be set as a scarfpin for the groom. As she sagely remarked, "It does me no good, and coming from such a famous establishment they are sure to prize it and think I paid a lot of money." When the package was returned from the shop, the wedding guest ranked to examine her proposed present, and merely dispatched it with her card and compliments. Imagine her disgust, when strolling through the rooms where the bridal gifts were displayed, to find a dozen people about her offering, and each one smiling. For a moment she hesitated, then pressed forward, and lo! there was the precious white satin covered box bearing the prized name, it is true, but, alas, below, "From repairing department," and even worse than all, resting on the blue cotton beside the pin, was an old broken bit of earring returned by the conscientious firm.—London Correspondent.

His Translation.

In a recent article on "Peculiar Children" Max O'Rell tells the following story: "A boy, reading from a play that was being translated at sight in class, came across the phrase, 'Calmez vous, monsieur!' He naturally translated this by 'Calm yourself, sir.' I said to him: 'Now don't you think this is a little stiff? Couldn't you give me something a little more colloquial? For instance, what would you say yourself in a like case?' The boy reflected a few seconds and said, 'Keep your hair on, old man.'"

They Never Move.

There are but two European potentates who manage to get along without change of residence. These are the pope of Rome and the sultan of Turkey. The sultan has never left Constantinople since he ascended the throne in such tragic circumstances 19 years ago, and his holiness has remained within the precincts of the Vatican since the triple tiara was placed upon his head.

Decelt and Fraud

What is practiced to carry the ticket known as the Stratton Ticket, endorsing Schmidt for Supervisor and Taylor for Assembly.

The Constitution and By-Laws of the West Berkeley Republican Club provides as follows:

Section III. This club shall not be used in any way to further the interests of any candidate for office previous to nomination.

It would seem that deceit and fraud was being practiced upon the unsuspicious voters, when Committee (?) C. H. Spear, C. Engebretson, L. McNamara, sign their names to any action of the West Berkeley Republican Club, which they must know to be in violation of the constitution and by-laws of said club, as Mr. Spear was one of the committee on constitution and by-laws, and must be cognizant of said section.

Again who is this committee (?) and by what authority were they appointed to use the West Berkeley Republican club, so far their interests in the ticket in which they are directly concerned with (?)

The people should not be misguided and led to support any combination in the hands of political tricksters.

The West Berkeley Republican Club has the best interest of the town people at heart, and as for myself I am willing to see all said candidates receive their respective nomination if it is done without resorting to trickery.

Voters should give this matter attention, and be sure they are not being unveigled into any scheme to further personal the interests of any professional politicians. Yours truly,

W. M. HEYWOOD,
President West Berkeley Republican Club.

If you are so unfortunate as to be compelled to wear eyeglasses or spectacles, see that they fit not only as regards the glasses, but the frames. There is nothing uglier than the marks of ill fitting glasses on either side of the nose. An optician who understands his business measures the bridge of the nose, the distance of the eyes from it and the width of the temples, and bends or fits the glasses accordingly. Apart from the discomfort and disfigurement of badly fitting frames, it is hardly possible that the glasses which they hold are right. They are almost certain to be out of focus. In choosing glasses, although the oculist or optician is bound to provide you with what is right, much depends upon yourself, for he cannot see with your eyes. The great mistake of those not accustomed to lenses is to get them too strong. It is such a pleasure for the moment to see things clearly that we exclaim: "Oh, yes, that's just right," whereas the proper glass would be one of considerably less power.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Buller's Obstinacy.

An English journal tells a story to illustrate the obstinacy of Sir Redvers Buller. During the last Nile campaign, when descending through one of the cataracts on board a river steamer, he got into a discussion with Lord Charles Beresford as to the proper channel that should be taken. Each obstinately defended his own course, but in the end that which Buller insisted upon was adopted, and the steamer got through without accident. "You see I was right!" cried Sir Redvers. "Mine was the proper channel." "That was mine, too," coolly replied Lord Charles. "I only recommended the other because I knew you would go against whatever I said."

To The Republican Voters of Berkeley.

At the Republican meeting held Saturday night the following address to the Republicans of Berkeley, which was prepared by a special committee was presented:

To the Republican Voters of Berkeley:—

The primary for the Republican party in Berkeley has been called for Saturday, September 19th. On that day the Republicans of Berkeley will be called upon to choose delegates to represent them in the selection of candidates for county and legislative offices. We believe that the best interests of Berkeley will be advanced by the adoption of a conservative course to be pursued by our delegates in the deliberations of said Convention.

The selection of one set of delegates for the entire town of Berkeley representing every portion of the town and speaking for all our diversified interests will give weight and dignity to our representation and will enable our representatives to command more than ordinary attention. Berkeley will thus be accorded the position in the political affairs of the county to which we believe ourselves entitled.

We regard the election of a State Senator to be of vital importance to Berkeley and the State University are so intimately connected that the prosperity of the great educational institution of which we are all so proud is inseparably linked with the welfare of our town. We believe in the making of liberal appropriations therefore, and the most liberal support of the State University.

In the candidacy of Mr. Fred. S. Stratton, a graduate of the U. C. and a young man of marked ability we recognize an opportunity to advance these identical interests of Town and University. We feel that Mr. Stratton's qualification ought to have the unqualified support of all elements.

We therefore heartily endorse the candidacy of Mr. Fred. S. Stratton for State Senator and recommend that our delegates to the County Convention unanimously support him for the nomination.

In the candidacy of our fellow townsman William Lair Hill for the nomination for Superior Judge of this county we feel more than usual interest. Local pride and enthusiasm should unite all parties and factions in a determined effort to secure for Mr. Hill the nomination. His legal ability is unquestioned, and his fitness for the position cannot be denied.

To this end therefore, we pledge our delegates to cast their votes for William Lair Hill of Berkeley for one of the nominations for Superior Judge. For the other nominee we pledge our delegates to cast their votes equally for Judge W. E. Green the present able incumbent, and Samuel P. Hall, Esq., whose splendid record as District Attorney of Alameda County will be remembered. Should Mr. Hill at any time wish to withdraw from the candidacy we desire our delegates to give their unqualified support to Messrs. Green and Hall.

Presenting for your consideration the above statement of our aims we feel that we can ask you to elect as delegates to the County Convention the following well-known residents of Berkeley who will comprise the "Stratton Hill" ticket.

North Berkeley—H. J. Squires, John Finn, Frank Wilson.

East Berkeley—Jos. McClain, Whitney Palache, Howard Wright, H. M. Waterbury, J. K. Stewart, W. A. Waste, Anson S. Blake, Robert Easton, W. M. Russell, T. F. Graber, Wellington Gregg.

Lorin—J. H. Bennett, Jos Stapleton, H. D. Irwin.

The Knife He Wanted.

The Worcester Gazette tells this story on the authority of [illegible] whose father was a steamboat captain. During one [illegible] the Mississippi river [illegible] the latter became very well acquainted with the captain of one of the steamers. One day the captain asked Mr. R. if he would make a knife for him. "Why, yes, what kind of a knife do you want?" he swer. "I want a good steel blade with a spring in it, so the blade won't give," explained the captain. "I'd a little rather have the blade ground on both edges. And I don't want one of the crosspieces, or guards, or whatever you call them. I want a knife I can stick into a man and twist it and when I pull it out it won't catch on less than a galluses."

A good story is being told of one of Louisville's most prominent homœopathic physicians. Several days ago a young woman called at his office, and after discoursing on all the topics of interest of the day settled down to tell him her ailments. Among other things she said that she was greatly annoyed with a sinking feeling. The physician prepared a little bottle of pills and gave them to her, with minute directions as to how they should be taken. The woman again began to talk, and after many vain efforts to get her out she started for the door. She had just opened it when she turned and said, "Oh, doctor, what shall I do if these pills do not cure me?" "Take the cork," he retorted. "They tell me that's good for a sinking feeling." And he called the next patient into his private office.—Louisville Post.

The fall of dead branches from a tree is an excellent sign of an approaching storm. The dead wood, much decayed, absorbs moisture and loses its tenacity, thus causing the branch to fall.
